

What compensation is available for which temporary worker?

Is your temporary worker experiencing financial stress?

Then Budget Coaching is a service that the temporary worker can use free of charge. Your temporary worker will work together with a budget coach to map out their financial situation. The budget coach also assists with communication with various authorities and knows everything about available schemes and allowances.

Budget Coaching is fully covered

Does your temporary worker want to further develop themselves?

Then the Development Budget is the perfect fit. This budget can be used for coaching and possibly other interventions that support the long-term development of the temporary worker (both now and in the future). Multiple interventions are possible, up to the maximum amount.

The Development Budget is worth €2,500.

Do you want to retrain your temporary worker towards a job with better long-term prospects?

Then make use of the Job Opportunity Budget. This is a compensation that covers the financial costs of retraining or additional education aimed at jobs with strong future prospects. For example, from assistant to driver or from production worker to process operator.

There are many possibilities

The Job Opportunity Budget is worth €1,500.

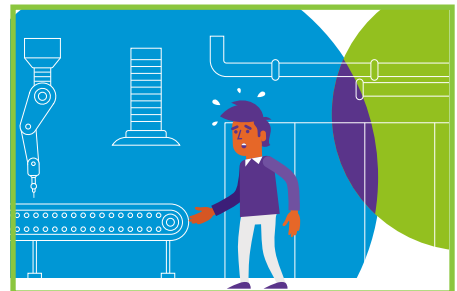

Is your temporary worker interested in training or education?

Then the Training Voucher is perfect for them. With this voucher, your temporary worker can choose a labor market-relevant training or course themselves. The voucher is specifically intended for the temporary worker, who independently decides which course to take.

The Training Voucher is worth €500.

Is your temporary worker experiencing stress symptoms?

Then the Less Stress, More Energy training is ideal. In six weeks, your temporary worker learns to better manage stress by understanding its causes — with the support of a coach. A real gift for your temporary worker!

The Less Stress, More Energy training is fully covered.

Does your temporary worker have limited knowledge of the Dutch language?

Then the Dutch Language Budget is perfect. This is a contribution towards the costs of training aimed at improving Dutch language skills. The goal is to increase language proficiency in the workplace.

The Dutch Language Budget is worth €1,500.

We're here to support both staffing organizations and temporary workers.

We believe that every temporary worker should be able to work vital, safe, skilled and in a enjoyable way. Now and in the future.

That's why we offer various services to support the sustainable employability of temporary workers.

And the best part? These services are free for staffing organizations that contribute to SFU!
